Modern Representations of Sub-Saharan Africa

Edited by Lori Maguire, University of Paris 8, France, Susan Ball, University of Paris 8, France and Sébastien Lefait, Aix-Marseille University, France

Series: Routledge Contemporary Africa

This book examines how representations of African in the Anglophone West have changed in the post-imperial age. Using a range of case studies from news media, maps, popular culture, film and TV the contributions assess how narrative and counter-narratives have developed and been received by their audiences over the years. Examining the overlapping areas between media representations and historical events, this book will be of interest to students and scholars of African Studies and Media and Cultural Studies.
